

I am against Banks being able to call people at home. I already get enough phone call even though I'm on the no call list. If my bank wants to contact me they can send info through the mail with my statments each month. There is no reason to be bothering me and me family with annoying calls.